

Assisted Living Facilities provide options for adults who can no longer live alone but do not need skilled nursing care. Typically, ALF's offer personal care & round-the-clock supervision while providing efficient spaces that ensure privacy. They may also provide transportation, meals, activities & housekeeping services, usually for an additional fee.

Questions to consider:

- *Is the facility licensed by the state?
- *Is it located near family & friends?
- *What is the staff to resident ratio?
- *What is the general level of activity & interaction among residents?
- *What services are provided? At what cost?
- *Are your questions answered by staff?
